DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, DECEMBER 17, 1833.

☞ We have to thank Messrs. Hays, Hilands, and Robinson for copies of the Canal Commissioners' Report.

SNOW.—On Saturday last, we had a fall of snow, to the depth of five inches, and during the last twenty four hours an additional depth of two or three inches has been added.

THE RIVER.—It will be perceived upon reference to our Steam Boat list that the Ohio is still open. The weather is now quite mild and the snow is dissolving so that we expect a rise of the river and a continuance of the navigation until after New Year's Day.

OUR CITY ELECTIONS.—We regret to perceive that an effort is making to procure a repeal of the late law regulating our city elections. We trust that the demagogues who are urging this repeal will be disappointed. Every friend of good order and fair dealing would regret the success of the politicians around the Post Office. We are told that Mr. Hilands firmly resists the adoption of this measure, which is urged only because its advocates hope to gain a few illegal votes, in the crowd and confusion which occur, when the elections are all held at one point.

DEPOSITS.—In the House of Representatives, while the subject of the removal of the deposits was under discussion, Mr. Cambreleng, from New York, stated that, if the deposits were ordered back to the United States Bank, universal distress and embarrassment would be brought upon the country. This declaration startled us a good deal, coming, as it does, from one of the partisans of the president.

Our readers probably all recollect that the president, in his reasons for the removal of the deposits, in endeavoring to show that that removal would not produce any distress or embarrassment, used the following language:

"The funds of the Government will not be annihilated by being transferred. They will immediately be issued for the benefit of trade, and if the Bank of the United States curtails its loans, the State Banks, strengthened by the public deposits, will extend theirs. What comes in through one bank will go out through others, and the equilibrium will be preserved."

Now, if the author of these "reasons" was correct in his view of the subject, the ordering back the deposits will cause no inconvenience at all. What comes in through one bank will go out through others, and "the funds will not be annihilated because they are transferred."—Has Mr. Cambreleng discovered that the author of the "reasons" undertook to write about matters of which he was entirely ignorant, or does he know that some of the pet banks are unable to pay the funds deposited in them?—It is evident that he must have lost all confidence in the reasoning of the president, or in the solvency of the pet banks—because, if that reasoning is sound and those banks solvent, the transfer of the funds will be entirely harmless.

But, if the pet banks should be insolvent, then the funds deposited in them would, as the president says, be "annihilated;" and it would seem to follow, from his manner of reasoning, that distress would ensue. Even in this case, however, the distress would arise not from ordering the funds out of the insolvent banks, but from ordering them into those banks. This distress would be the result of the conduct of the President, and not of Congress.

RAIL ROAD STOCK.—A stockholder in the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, having heard that the Directors had it in contemplation to call for the payment of further instalments, to the amount of fifteen dollars per share, to be made during the ensuing spring and summer, remonstrated with them in a publication in the last Baltimore Chronicle. From this article we make the following extracts, not, certainly, from any feelings of triumph, but for the purpose of convincing the few of our fellow citizens who are dissatisfied with the selection of the Mahoning rout and a canal, in preference of the Little Beaver rout and a rail road, that this decision was wise and proper,

"It is well known to you all, that there are many stockholders who relied mainly on obtaining a portion of the means to pay their instalments by borrowing the money on the security of a pledge of their stock. In this reasonable expectation they were not, in the first instance, disappointed. A number of liberal and spirited individuals, and a few of our banking institutions—one of them most liberally and efficiently manifested their disposition to aid in affecting the great work of improvement, by lending on pledges of the stock a reasonable proportion of the amount from time to time paid on it." * * * * *

"A reduction of the loans previously granted was a very general consequence of the last call made by you for the payment of instalments.—A further result of that call has been that the stock on which sixty five dollars a share have been paid, will not produce, by sale, twenty five; and, should you make the reported call, the price will be yet further reduced."

We understand that the opinion was expressed, by several of the delegates from Philadelphia, that stock in a canal company would be taken there, but not in a rail road. The above brief history of the transactions of the stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road, and the statement of the present value of that stock, would lead us to conclude that capitalists would be very unwilling to invest their money in such an improvement.

This alone, then, was certainly a strong argument in favor of a canal.

COMMUNICATED.

OHIO.

The Governor of Ohio, in his recent Message, states that "the receipts into the Treasury, within the last year, for the sales of Ohio Canal Lands, Water Rents, and Tolls, will pay the interest on the Foreign Canal Debt, and $22,099, over. This sum goes to our citizens, and is added to our School Fund. The receipts of Toll, next year, it is anticipated, will be sufficient to pay the interest of the whole Canal Debt, and will gradually thereafter accumulate a surplus sufficient, if properly invested, to extinguish the whole Canal Debt, by the time it becomes due."

He furnishes a list of additional works, which are "entitled to the fostering care and patronage of the State, as far as may be consistent with its general interests;" and, at the head of the list, he deservedly places "the communication between the Ohio and Pennsylvania Canals."

TWENTY THIRD CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

REMOVAL OF THE DEPOSITS.

In the House of Representatives of the U. S. the motion made on Thursday evening, by Mr. Polk, for the reconsideration of a vote passed on Tuesday, by which the Secretary's report on the removal of the deposits was committed to a committee of the whole on the state of the union, coming up in order—an animated discussion followed, in which Messrs. Binney, M'Duffie, Cambreleng, and others, partook. Mr. Binney thus concludes his forcible remarks.—Poulson.

"The transfer is made to various Banks, and that is all that this House knows through the Secretary's letter;—their charters—their capitals—their condition, are all alike unknown. Hence arise the agitation and alarm of the whole commercial community. In the midst of a crop, said to be uncommonly good—with all the evidences of general wealth about us, this country is struck with affright and dismay, and, in the midst of most abundant resources, there is apprehension and foreboding of the darkest kind for the future. What is the cause of all this! What is the reason that, in so short a time, from a day of ease and abundance, the best paper in our cities suffers a loss from 12 to 18 per cent. per annum discount? Is i' the curtailment by the Bank of the United States? Not at all. It is the uncertainty of the future. It is that state of uncertainty every man desires to do what he cannot do, make provision for the month that is to come, as well as for the p.esent day, and out of this effort comes the alarm and the agitation. No man lends. No man can borrow. Every one hoards, as in case of an invasion. Credit and security are shaken in all parts of the country.

Mr. B. said, in conclusion, that an immediate discussion of the topics connected with the subject, and action upon them, could not do otherwise than produce good. If the deposits are not to be restored to the Bank of the United States, so be it. The Bank, he said, was no more his concern, than that of any other man in the country. It was not for the Bank he felt, but for himself, and those whose interests were in greater jeopardy than those of the Bank. To that institution, the worst has been done that power can effect. She is now invulnerable, and her safety, and the safety of her stockholders, are beyond doubt. But there are other interests in the country, and it is the duty of Congress to look to these. If any thing is to be done, it must be done without delay. If the remnant of the national deposit is to be arrested in the Bank, a few days more may put it beyond the power of Congress.

If the moneys entrusted to the State Banks are to be reclaimed, a few short weeks may put them beyond the reach of the public, and of the banks themselves. A day of embarrassment and alarm is not the day in which the borrowers of a bank can restore the public moneys that have been loaned to them. It is to the Committee of the Whole, then, and the discussion and decision to be there had, that the public now turn with interest as much as any member of this House, and if nothing shall come from it but evil, the present fear is worse than the worst certainty that can happen.

The Debate was further continued in an animated strain, by Mr. McKinley, Mr. Clayton, Mr. Polk, and Mr. Wayne. The last speaker concluded by moving the precious question; which was not seconded by a majority, (yeas 104, nays 107.) And then, on motion of Mr. Wayne, the House adjourned, not having come to any decision.

Thursday, Dec. 12.—In the House of Representatives, Mr. Clayton, of Geo. said, that as it was his intention to vote against the motion of the gentleman from Tenn., it was due to his own peculiar situation in respect to the Bank to state his reasons for doing so. He was aware that he should by some be held obnoxious to the charge of inconsisteney in the course he should now pursue, because he had last year voted that he did not consider the Deposits of the public money as safe in the Bank of the United States. He was still of the same opinion: but it did not follow that because he thought the public money was unsafe in the vaults of the Bank, that he should not think it more unsafe at the bottom of the Potomac. Such was his opinion then, and now. He gave up none of his opposition to the Bank, because it was based on principle; but it never should be used for mere party and political purposes. He had ever been opposed to the Bank, because he believed it an unconstitutional incorporation, and because he held it inexpedient to connect Government with any private corporation whatever. But if that were true, was it not equally true in reference to the hundred or the hundred and fifty corporations, to which, by the voice of a single individual, the public funds had been distributed? Such a measure made the State Banks, pro tanto, United States Banks, to all intents and purposes. If the Deposits were unsafe in the one, why were they more safe in the other?

The arrangement with the Bank was a contract between the United States and that institution, and though he never could sanction the formation of the contract, yet as it was made, the Government was bound by every principle of honor and honesty to abide by and support it. At present all the public Deposits were lodged in banks of which the House knew nothing. Supposing any gentleman should now introduce a resolution, empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to establish banks, as many as he pleased, and wherever he might think proper, and then to remove the Government Deposits, and place them in these new banks, was any body to be found who would vote for such a resolution? Yet precisely that state of things existed at this moment. The one Government Bank had been multiplied into he did not know how many, and might be into three or four hundred. He should vote in favor of as early a settlement of the question as possible: the materials to go upon were all collected by the investigating Committee, and were as ready for the action of the House now as ever they would be.—The House, by the action of one of its own Committees, had been put in possession of all the facts of the case. The Secretary had stated nothing which the committee had not long since stated before him, and reported to the House. Had not the Committee adverted to the expenditures by the Bank on the public printing?—and had they not said that this patronage went to affect the elections? What more was stated now? All that the Secretary had stated only went to prove that the Bank should never have been chartered on the first instance, but it did not show that the House ought not to act at once upon the subject of the Deposits. However instructed by the Chair, Mr. C. was not, he said, at liberty to give the reasons for the vote he should give on this occasion: but when the main question should come up, he should be found in opposition, as he had ever been, to the Bank. In the mean while, on the question, whether a single man could multiply banks at his own pleasure, and to any extent, he was ready at once to vote: and on the question of restoring the Deposits he was also prepared to vote; for it was better they should be in one place, where they were somewhat unsafe, than in a hundred places, where they were far more unsafe.

Friday, Dec. 13.—Among various petitions and memorials this morning, Mr. STEWART, of Pennsylvania, presented a number of memorials from citizens of Pennsylvania, praying for a further subscription of stock to the Eastern and Western Sections of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.—Nat. Int.

The Senate did not sit yesterday; and little business was done in the House of Representatives. The whole of the sitting of the latter body was occupied in disposing of a Memorial from four out of the five Government Directors in the Bank of the United States, addressed to the House of Representatives, through the Speaker. What are the contents of that Memorial was not stated, nor have we been able to ascertain, it being, up to the time of our going to press, inaccessible to all the efforts we made to get a sight of it. What business these persons have with the House, after having been preaching and making reports to the Executive branches of the Government for the last twelvemonth, we cannot conjecture; unless it be that they have petitioned Congress for some adequate compensation for the very laudable, liberal, disinterested, (and, above all, respectable,) services they have thus rendered against the Bank, whose interests they were specially appointed, on the part of the United States, to protect and promote. —Nat. Int.. Dec. 14.

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the U. S. Gazette, dated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11, 1833.

"The taking away of the appointment of the Committees from the President of the Senate, and ordering their election by the Senate, is a bitter pill for the Jackson men to swallow. Some attempts were made by the two New York Senators, Mr. Silas Wright, and Mr. Tallmadge, before the question came up yesterday, to gain over a vote or two; a dead set was made at Mr. Prentiss of Vermont, and a demonstration was made upon Mr. Smith, a new Senator from Connecticut. It was bold, to audacity, but it altogether failed.—The Van Buren influence was light as a feather. When the result was announced, Hill, Wright, and King betrayed by their countenances the chagrin which preyed upon their feelings. Grundy shook his foot, Benton looked bitter, and Tallmadge looked blank; while Forsyth, affecting the utmost non chalence, threw himself back in his chair, with a smile, uttering, as eloquently as looks can speak—"You have got the numbers, gentlemen, go ahead?"

The New York Daily Advertiser observes:—

"We believe it is a fact, that Gen. Jackson has affixed his veto upon more bills that have passed the two houses of Congress, than all the other Presidents put together."

Besides, it is demonstrable that Gen. Jackson is less qualified to use the Veto properly than any of his predecessors—more deficient in political knowledge and judgment, and more subject to the influences of prejudice and passion.—Nat. Gaz.

HARRISBURG, December 12th.

It is currently reported here, that Mr. Welsh, late editor of the Reporter, having received an appointment from Mr. Franklin, clerk of the House of Representatives, at Washington, has transferred his interest to Mr. Packer, late editor of the Lycoming Gazette, and that the Reporter will in future more particularly sustain the views of those who wish to elevate Mr. Van Buren to the Presidency.—Poulson.

Mexico.—A letter, dated the 2d October, from Mazzatlan, on the west coast of the Mexican Republic, says—The Cholera is among us, and is literally mowing down the people. In Tepic, where it has begun, nearly 1,000 persons have died. In Rosarie, some days there have been 19 deaths, and the population not over 5,000.

Van Burenism Exploded in Pennsylvania!—Gen. Samuel M'Kean, the uncompromising opponent of Van Buren, has been chosen Senator in Congress from Pennsylvania! Here is an Anti Van Buren Senator elected by a strong Jackson Legislature!! This is a distinction which we have long and ardently anticipated.—Albany Evening Journal.

A correspondent of the National Gazette, at Washington, remarks:—

"The superiority of the Opposition or Constitutional party, in the Senate, not only in numbers, but in weight of metal, is too great for a very exciting war there. What can Benton & Co. do against Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Southard, and the others? The House will be the grand field of battle."

The affairs of the General Post Office will in due time engage the earnest attention of Congress. Its insolvency amounts to nearly two hundred thousand dollars; and the attempt to cast the blame upon the former administrations of the department cannot succeed. Talk of electioneering and abuse of the public funds by the Bank! Look, for that, to the General Post Office department.—Nat. Gaz.

Pennsylvania Senator.—The Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Intelligencer, (a Jackson paper) makes the following remarks touching the recent election of Gen. M'Kean to the U. S. Senate—we doubt much, whether that event is "satisfactory" to the Kitchen Cabinet, or its organ, the Globe:

"This result cannot he misunderstood. It is a verdict passed by the democracy on the question agitated in connection with the Senatorial election. Samuel McKean has been elected as an opponent of Martin Van Buren, as an enemy of the National Convention, as a foe to the Kitchen Cabinet. Every means within the reach of the office holders was arrayed to prostrate him: and when that was found ineffectual, threats and persuasion were used to procure from him an avowal of friendship; expression of regret for his past opposition; any thing, in short, that would justify their support of him.—HE REFUSED. He stood firm by his principles, and the Democracy of the legislature stood firmly by him. The opposition, maddened by his intrepid defiance of their menaces, and his determined stand on the subject of a National Convention, redoubled their exertions. You already have the result; and can measure the strength of the Albany Regency in Pennsylvania. It is down—down forever. Pennsylvania stands, as she has ever stood, erect and independent. She will never be harnessed to the car of the Albany Regency: those who have essayed to degrade and humiliate her, may turn their attention elsewhere. Here they are forever defeated."

FROM THE WEST INDIES.

We are in possession, says the New York Commercial Advertiser, of a file of the Barbadian, to the 9th of November, inclusive.

In St. Vincent's, a solemn protest had been adopted by the House of Assembly against the Act for the Abolition of Slavery. "The fiat of the Imperial Parliament of England, says the Protest, has gone forth, and we must bow with due submission to its decree, conscious of our weakness and impotency to resist its authoritative mandate." The protest professes to be made for the purpose of recording the disclaimer of that body of any responsibility resulting from the measure, and also for the purpose of reserving to themselves the right of demanding from the British nation a full compensation for the losses they may ultimately sustain. In the body of the Protest they throw back upon their accusers the obloquy that had been cast upon them, and allude to the striking and important fact, that, in a variety of instances, not only the lands, but the slaves themselves, had been purchased from the British government.

ST. LUCIA.—In this, and the neighboring islands, thunder storms of unusual frequency and violence have occurred. Much damage has been done, and many lives lost. The sea has also excited much wonder—the tides having flowed higher than ever before known.

The slaves were transporting themselves from this island to Martinique, where they were sure to be put to hard work under the surveillance of a driver, with twenty nine lashes ready for every little fault!

In Dominica the act for the abolition of slavery was proclaimed on the 10th of October—and, on the 15th, fifteen slaves made their escape to Guadaloupe!

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

Why will the Branch persist curtailing its discounts? Why will it not at least keep its discounts up to its receipts? These are questions sometimes asked by those who believe what the questions imply, and who desire an answer in good faith. We can give that answer in the following transcript from the books of the Bank this day, which a gentleman unconnected with the institution, and himself unconnected with any of the exciting topics of the day, has furnished to us:

Discount line—Dec. 1st,	$5,202,080
Dec. 12th,	5410,000
Increase in 12 days,	198,080
The receipts into the bank on the 12th, were	$193,000
The Discounts,	270,000
Excess on that day of discounts over receipts,	$77,000

A Shave.—One hundred and fifty casks of bronzed statues arrived at New York, from Liverpool, faithful likenesses of Bonaparte, Jackson, Wellington, Van Buren, Swartwout, Cambreleng, Hamilton, Biddle, and other distinguished personages, which turned out, on inspection, to be lead, some weighing 50 lbs. The bronzed figures are free of duty—lead pays 3 cts. per lb. The whole will be seized, confiscated, and melted down. What an amalgamation—let's have no fighting in the crucible. —N. Y. Star.

From London Literary and Scientific Journals, at the office of the National Gazette.

ABSOLUTE WEIGHT OF THE ATMOSPHERE DURING CHOLERA GREATER THAN AT OTHER TIMES.—At a meeting of the British Association, Dr. Prout exhibited a table containing the results of eighty seven experiments on the absolute weight of the atmosphere between the 16th December, 1831, and the 24th March, 1832. The experiments were usually made about noon, and as nearly as possible under simlar circumstances. The following is a summary of the results. The mean of all the experiments (with one exception, to be presently noticed,) is, that 100 cubic inches of dry atmospheric air, free from carbonic acid, at the temperature of 32 degrees, barometer, 30 inches, in the latitude of London, weigh 32.7958 grs., the extreme differences between the highest and the lowest observations being .0507 grs. The mean of the first forty four experiments, between the 16th of December and the 8th of February, inclusive, is 32.7900 grs.; the mean of the last forty four, between the 10th of February and 24th of March inclusive, 32.8018 grs.; the difference between the two series, being .0118 grs. The exception alluded to above occurred on the 9th of February, on which day the weight of the air was 32.8218 grs.; and it is remarkable, that after this period, during the whole time that the experiments were continued, the air almost uniformly possessed a weight above the usual standard, so that, as above stated, the mean of the forty two observations after this crisis exceeds the mean of the forty four preceeding it, by no less than .0118 grs.

The apparatus employed, and the care taken, were the same throughout; and there can be no doubt, that the difference, whatever it depended on, really existed, and did not arise from error of experiment. How the circumstance is to be explained, it is difficult to form a conjecture: but perhaps it might be worth while to observe, that almost precisely at the period above mentioned, the wind veered round to the north and east, where it continued for a considerable time, and that under these circumstances the epidemic cholera first made its appearance in London. It would seem, therefore, as if some heavy foreign body had been diffused through the lower regions of the atmosphere about this period, and which was, somehow or other, connected with the disease in question. The action of this body is quite unknown; but it could have scarcely possessed acid or alkaline properties, as, in the former instance, it would have been separated by lime water, and in the latter by sulphuric acid. We may probably consider it as a variety of malaria; and, what renders the conjecture more likely, are its effects upon the animal economy, which are somewhat analogous to those known to be produced by certain varieties of this poison. Thus, during the present spring and summer, the saliva and the exhalations from the skin, in almost every individual on whom the experiment was made, have been found to be unusually acid: the state of the urine also, and other secretions, has been most remarkable, and that in so great a number of individuals as to prove the existence of some widely acting cause, such as has not occurred in our time, or at least since the author of the present communication has turned his attention to the subject. Should the above conjectures prove to be well founded, they lead us to hope that the cause of the present formidable epidemic will not be permanent, but will pass gradually away, though, from the deep seated and malignant influence which it has exerted in organic action, it is probable that several years will elapse before its effects will be entirely obliterated.

Colonel Benton is now the administration leader in the Senate.—"O thou invincible epitome of Hercutes!"

The Kings of Europe.—There are forty nine reigning sovereigns in Europe, exclusive of Otho, who was elected to his present rank.

The New York Star contains the following information, derived from a responsible source, which may be interesting to the public:—Daily Phila. Chron.

"The Mexican Government will grant, on solicitation, a favorable reception to such Indians as may wish to emigrate from the United States to the Mexican Republic, provided they engage to maintain a peaceable and friendly intercourse with the inhabitants of that country; to remain on the lands that may be designated for them; and submit themselves to the laws the State or Territory within which they may fix their abode, as well as the general laws of the country."

Scotland.—The remains of a vessel have been recently discovered on some land that has been reclaimed by draining the Loch of Spynie in Scotland. It was about thirty feet in length, and the stern round, on Sir Robert Sepping's plan. The ribs were of oak and entire. It is supposed that this vessel has been lost nearly six hundred years, as one of its dimensions could not have navigated the Loch of Spynie, more particularly the part where it has been found, after the twelfth, or thirteenth century.—Foreign Paper.

A draft for $30,000, was sent by the Treasury on the Louisville Bank, but the government having but $6,000 in deposit—the draft was dishonored.—Poulson.

Meterological.—At Harvard, Massachusetts, at about 8 o'clock, in the morning of the 13th ult., there was a slight shower of rain, when not a cloud was to be seen, the weather being what is called perfectly fair.

"THISTLE BLOOM."

TUNE—"Should Auld Acquaintance."

Should Scotia's emblem be forgot?
Should mem'ry scant it room?
Should we her sons remember not
The Thistle's bonnie bloom?

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom my friens
The Thistle's bonnie bloom,
We'll toom a stoup this gladsome night
To "Thistle's bonnie bloom."

Tho' far frae hame an' native lan',
Our hearts shall feel no gloom,
While here we join, a winsome clan,
To sing "The Thistle Bloom."

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom, &c.

We loe her glens, her braes, her burns,
Her heather and her broom,
But maist our soul for country yearns,
At sight o' Thistle bloom.

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom, &c.

Tho' aft we quaff to Scotia's guide,
Whyl'st mirth an' sang gae roun,
Yet nobler feelings warm the bluid,
Inspired by Thistle bloom.

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom, &c.

We bid the tearfu' widow turn,
Her eyes frae aff the tomb,
We hush the wail o' orphan bairn,
Taught by thee, "Thistle bloom."

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom, &c.

Then sing ye chiels wie' heart and soul,
Skirl loud nor fash the tune,
Gar Indus tell it to the pole,
And praise thee, "Thistle bloom!"

CHORUS.

The Thistle's bonnie bloom, &c.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjusting and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

Nov. 8, 1833. MOSES ATWOOD.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
other lots, containing about			6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county—and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others—a soil rich and productive—the neighborhood abounding in coal—well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
